ATTORNEY CLIENT PRIVILEGE, NOT SUBJECT TO FOIA

MEMORANDUM:

TO: John Works
Environmental Scientist

FROM: Alicia N. Hoegh
Criminal Enforcement Counsel

SUBJECT: Clean Harbors, Inc.

Per your request, below is a summary of the information regarding the storage of the rail cars in the Sterling Yard and the U.S. Department of Transportation regulations which, in my legal opinion, bars EPA from finding a storage violation under RCRA. I have taken this information from another more comprehensive memorandum which I am not a liberty to share with you. I have deleted from the text some information but left what I could. I also added the note found at section 263.10 discussion we had. Accordingly, the information may seem a little disjointed. If you have any questions, call me at x6876.

The issue is whether the Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. Sterling Transfer Facility and the Union Pacific Railroad rail yard are considered "in transit" locations and, therefore, are not subject to the ten day storage requirement. What constitutes "in transit" is determined on a case-by-case basis. Research, to date, has not found a case with similar facts.

In a letter dated June 9, 1998, to Scott Klarich of CDPHE, Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. and Clean Harbor, Inc. asserted: 1) railcars destined for Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. must be moved by Union Pacific Railroad into the Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc.'s transfer facility in Sterling, Colorado; 2) Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. then off-loads the railcars into tanker trucks for delivery to Kimball facility; and, 3) Union Pacific Railroad did not move the railcar tankers to the Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc.'s Sterling transfer facility, nor did they [UP] notify Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. that the railcar tankers had arrived at Union Pacific Railroad's rail yard.

Consequently, Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc. and Clean Harbors, Inc. have asserted that the Department of Transportation regulations found at 49 Code of Federal Regulations, subchapter C, shields them from liability for the alleged violations and that it is the Union Pacific Railroad who bore the ultimate responsibility for the hazardous waste under the

Printed on Recycled Paper

DOT regulations.

Pertinent DOT regulations are as follows:

Under 49 C.F.R. § 174.14(a) a carrier must forward each shipment of hazardous materials promptly and within 48 hours ... or receipt at any yard ....

Under 49 C.F.R. § 174.16(b) Delivery at agency stations. A carrier shall require the consignee of each shipment of hazardous materials to remove the shipment from the carrier's property within 48 hours ... after notice of arrival has been sent or given. If not so removed, the carrier shall dispose of the shipment as follows ... (2) Hazardous materials .. in carload shipments: By storage on the carrier's property; by storage on other than the carrier's property if safe storage on the carrier's property is not available; or by sale at expiration of 15 calendar days after notice of arrival has been sent or given to the consignee, provided that the consignor has been notified of the non-delivery at the expiration of a 48-hour period and orders for disposition have not been received.

The DOT's Chief Counsel's interpretation of 49 C.F.R. §§ 174.14 and 174.16 regarding the application of the 48-hour restriction of "storage of cars loaded with hazardous materials" is summarized as follows:

When a hazardous material shipment arrives at the final agency station of a carrier and final delivery cannot be effected, the carrier must notify the consignee. If the consignee cannot arrange for final delivery within 48 hours, the carrier may store the shipment on its own property indefinitely, assuming safe storage is available." (Federal Railroad Administration Technical Bulletins TB-85-396 and TB-82-43 issued April 1, 1982 and subsequently reissued).

According to the Clean Harbors, Inc. and Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc., Union Pacific Railroad never notified them of the arrival of the tanker cars of hazardous waste. Thus, Union Pacific Railroad had custody and, therefore, responsibility for the storage of the rail cars in its yard.

Finally, EPA is further barred from seeking a storage violation by virtue of the note found at 40 C.F.R. § 260.10 which states in pertinent part:

EPA and DOT worked together to develop standards for transporters of hazardous waste in order to avoid conflicting requirements. Except for transporters of bulk shipments of hazardous waste by water, a transporter who meets all applicable requirements of 49 CFR parts 171 through 179 and the requirements of 40 CFR 263.11 and 263.31 will be deemed in compliance with this part.

The transfer facility regulation found at § 263.12 was added to this subpart after the note was codified. EPA failed to revise the footnote to add the transfer facility regulation to the other two regulations that transporters were required to meet when § 263.12 was codified.

Re: Notice of proposed enforcement against Clean Harbors' Braintree, Spring Grove,
Baltimore and Chicago Facilities under RCRA Section 3008 for Exceptions Reporting
Violations

Dear: Mr. Rota, Ms Owens, Mr. Boyle:

The purpose of this letter is to consult with you regarding a proposed enforcement action under Section 3008 of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act ("RCRA"), 42 U.S.C. § 6928, for exceptions report violations associated with shipments of hazardous waste destined for the Clean Harbors Environmental Services, Inc., facility near Kimball, NE, ("designated facility") from the following four Clean Harbors' facilities: Braintree, MA, Chicago, IL, Spring Grove, OH, and Baltimore, MD. The shipments occurred during the period October 1997 through March 1998.

EPA Region 8 has determined that each of the shipments took over 45 days to complete and that exception reports were not filed within the proper regulatory time frame with any of the appropriate State or EPA offices. These acts or omissions constitute violations of EPA RCRA generator regulations set forth at 40 C.F.R. § 262.42(a)(2) and analogous authorized hazardous waste program regulations for the States of Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts and Maryland. Region 8 is proposing to file a case against all four of the above-cited Clean Harbors' facilities because all of the shipments, regardless of origination point, were temporarily stored at a transfer station located in Sterling, CO, awaiting ultimate deliverance to the designated facility. During the entire time that the shipments remained stored in Sterling, CO, awaiting final disposal, the hazardous waste posed a potential threat to Sterling's residents and surrounding environment.

Prior to issuance of this letter, EPA Region 8 representative John Works contacted RCRA staff members in each of the affected Regions to provide verbal notice of Region 8's proposed action. Based on these initial communications, it is Region 8's understanding that each Region will contact and coordinate the Region 8 action with each of their respective states. If the action is not opposed then each Region will provide notice to its respective state counterparts. If this understanding is incorrect, please notify me at 303/312-6352 or the Region 8 persons most knowledgeable on this matter: John Works, Environmental Protection Specialist, at 303/312-6196, or Jim Stearns, Enforcement Attorney, at 303/312-6912. As the Region plans to proceed with pre-filing settlement discussion in this matter, please inform us if you have any questions or information that you wish us to consider as soon as possible. Your support of this action is greatly appreciated.

Dear Sir:

The purpose of this letter is to fulfill the exception reporting requirements, pursuant to 40CFR262.42 (a)(2) and IL 722.142.

Clean Harbors Services, Inc., did not receive a signed copy of the manifests listed below within the 45 day requirement. The designated facility was contacted regarding the disposition of the waste shipments. The waste is still in transit via railcar and currently located as the Sterling Rail Yard in Colorado. The manifests will be signed and returned to Clean Harbors Services, Inc. as soon as the waste is received at the designated facility.
